TUESDAY

LO To proofread my work for spelling and punctuation errors

Proofreading is an important stage in the writing process. It involves spotting and correcting any mistakes that you may have made in your writing. Using the CUPS checklist is a great way to spot if errors have been made.

C = Have capital letters been used correctly?

U = Do sentences sound right? (understanding)

P = Are sentences correctly punctuated?

S = Are words spelt correctly?

Watch the video on emus

Edit the sentences

female emus lay large emerald-green eggs. witch occasionally disapear if snakes or other nest raiders are nearby one particularly pesky emu enjoyed snatching brotgas hat of his head with its powerful beek.

Can you spot and write down the correct spellings? (4)

Interestingly, the emu is won off the largist flightless birds and is only exceeded in heit by the ostrich.

Use the CUPS checklist to edit the sentence with the corrections that need to be made.
