

Mirroring Reading Practice Across Classes

In some year groups there may be more than one class. Where this occurs both classes will follow the same planning in their reading, both in literacy lessons and in whole class reading.

